Hello.

At this point, you might have some questions.

This is completely understandable.

You just received a letter from a complete stranger.

The sender has never met you and doesn't know anything about you.

They are not expecting anything from you in return.

They are faithfully sending this happy letter to you.

Randomly...but with purpose.

The hope now is that it will bring you a smile.

Happiness.

Serendipity has brought this letter to you to brighten your world.

If this letter brings you joy, share your smile with a stranger today.

Or...consider sending a happy letter yourself!

spreading smiles one stamp at a time
